We have the answer to solve your TV reception problems - and it's NOT Pay TV

When you hear 'Satellite TV' you're probably thinking of Foxtel, Optus or Austar, but did you know about the free to air satellite service?

Yes, Australians have had free to air satellite TV since 1985. The free to air service broadcasts programming from the 7, 9 & 10 networks plus has 6 ABC and 4 SBS services, and there are no monthly fees. If you're putting up with lousy TV reception we have the answer, free to air Satellite TV. Satellite TV is available right across Australia and commercial services are now available in Remote and Black Spot areas. Ask our staff for further information.

What channels will I receive?

There are now over 20 TV stations including two commercial satellite channels covering programming from all three major commercial networks. The commercial services are available to viewers in Remote areas, our staff can advise you further.

Seven Central is the 7-network broadcasting from Townsville. Imparja is also very popular and broadcasts programs from the 9 & 10 networks.

The ABC has 6 separate TV broadcasts available, these services broadcast from Sydney, Brisbane, Adelaide, Darwin and Perth. SBS provides multi-cultural service in four time zones.

Golden West and WIN are available in Western Australia only.

Narrowcast services include, educational, religious and ethnic channels.

There are also over 40 radio services broadcasting digital quality stereo music including services such as BBC World, Parliament radio and JJJ Youth radio.
